Joining a Trade Union at work

You have the right to work in safety without harassment because of race, nationality, disability, age, gender, religion, sexual orientation or union membership. Employers must make sure you are safe at work.

A Trade Union is an organisation, set up to help workers with their rights and to improve terms and conditions of work. All unions belong to the TUC (Trades Union Congress) which is the national governing body.

Members pay subscriptions to the union on a monthly or yearly basis and in return the union can help with work issues.

Everyone is allowed to join a trade union and when you start work the first thing you should do is find out from other trusted workers if there is a union in your work place. If there is your work place will have a union representative and they will be able to explain to you about the union and how to join.

If there is no union in your workplace you will need to contact the TUC www.tuc.org.uk/international and follow the migration link, or telephone 0207 636 4030 or www.gmb.org.uk or telephone on 0115 960 7171 (regional office).

Trade Unions can assist you with a number of issues including: pay and the minimum wage, working hours, health and safety at work, your contract, legal advice, training and education, discrimination and redundancy.

The Gangmasters Licensing Authority

The Gangmasters Licensing Authority (GLA) was set up to stop the exploitation of workers in the agriculture, horticulture, shellfish gathering and associated processing and packaging industries.

It is illegal to supply workers to the agriculture and food processing and packaging sectors without a GLA licence.

Safeguarding the welfare and interests of workers is central to the GLA's mission and it is determined that workers' legal rights will be upheld. The new licensing scheme will make sure those supplying labour and where they work, meet the minimum standards required by law.

A public register listing the licensed Labour Providers is available online. Workers will be able to check this to see if their current employer is allowed to provide labour.

The GLA also provides advice for workers on:

1. Rights and responsibilities
2. Where to seek advice and help

Money and Banks

Keeping and sending money in the UK: You can keep your money secure in a number of places including:

1. Post Office Savings Account – to open an ordinary account you will need proof of identity and proof of address
2. High Street banks and building societies – to open an ordinary account you will need proof of identity and proof of address

It may be difficult for you to open a high street bank account or building society account as these establishments usually run credit checks on customers, which can prove difficult if you have not lived in the UK for at least three years.

The banks and building societies may offer their facilities but with limited access to credit cards or withdrawal from automatic telling machines (ATMs)

Most banks will allow you to send money overseas but you will have to pay for this service.

Alternatively you can buy postal orders from the Post Office to send money throughout the UK and some overseas countries. You need to ask at your local post office which countries will accept these.

Credit unions

Credit Unions are savings and loans organisations, they are as safe as a bank but based in the community.

It is easier to open an account with a credit union than with a bank. You will still need to provide identification but credit unions can accept a wider range of documents, and also accept a letter of referral from organisations which are helping you, or an employer. If you have a credit union account, this can help you open a bank account later.

Some credit unions are introducing debit cards so you can spend at shops or withdraw at ATMs

Fair cost loans are offered to members, usually after you have paid money in for three months or longer, but sometimes a loan may be available sooner. Credit unions offer the following advantages:

1. Safe place to put your savings, wages or benefits
2. PayPoint cards available to deposit cash, or you can pay in by standing order or payroll from your employer, or you can pay in at a local community location.
3. Your employer can pay your wages into the credit union if you don't have a bank account.
4. Fair Loans after a short qualifying period of membership
5. Free Life Insurance for ages 18 – 79
6. Rent Deposit Loans in some districts
7. Some credit unions do international money transfer
8. Get experience and skills by volunteering at your local credit union branch

Section two

Housing

- Renting or buying a home
- Housing associations
- If you are homeless
- Health and safety
- Heating your home - Warm Front

Renting a home

This section gives you a basic guide to renting and buying a house within the area and you should ask for independent advice from your local Citizens Advice Bureau.

Renting private accommodation: Information on what is available can be found in local newspapers, shop windows and estate/property agents.

Estate/property agents manage the property for landlords and they will be able to provide you with a list and cost of properties in the area – this list is free and you should not be charged for this service.

When you agree to rent a private property you will be asked to pay – one month's rent (in advance) and a deposit (usually a month's rent)

The deposit will be put into a deposit protection scheme by the landlord until you move out of the property and will be returned in full if there is no damage to the property.

There is no limit to the amount that a private landlord can charge for a home, usually the monthly rental cost in the Babergh area is:

- One bedroom properties - £400-£525 per month
- Two bedroom properties - £475-£650 per month
- Three bedroom properties - £550-£850 per month

You will also need to pay an administration fee (approx £100), provide the agent with bank details in order to pay your monthly rent and references to ensure you are reliable and can afford to pay your rent.

Tenancy Agreement: You will normally be asked to sign a tenancy agreement when you move into a property, this is a legal contract that explains your rights and responsibilities and those of your landlord.

Make sure you read and understand the agreement before you sign it as it will include important information such as how much rent you will pay, how long you will rent the property, how much notice you need to give and what bills you are responsible for.

Other points to consider:

1. Make sure the property you rent is affordable – most agreements are for six months and you will be liable for the full period
2. You may be eligible for Housing Benefit – see relevant section
3. Eviction – you may be asked to leave the property because you have not kept your tenancy agreement. There are certain procedures that must be followed in order to evict someone. If you are asked to leave your property and you are not sure of your rights contact the Homelessness Team at Babergh District Council or Citizens Advice Bureau immediately
4. As well as paying rent you will need to pay for water, gas and electricity bills, your council tax and TV licence if you have a TV
5. You can “lodge” in a room within a family home – this is usually cheaper than renting a property but it is possible for landlords to ask you to leave with very short notice

Buying a home

Buying a home is a very popular option in the UK but can also be very expensive so most people take out a mortgage to buy the property.

A mortgage is a type of loan usually from a bank, building society or finance company. You will have to pay back everything within an agreed time frame (usually 25 years) plus interest.

It is possible to lose your home if you do not keep up repayments on the property. If you are planning to get a mortgage you will need independent financial advice and should contact you local Citizens Advice Bureau (CAB).

Housing associations

Housing associations, also known as Registered Social Landlords provide affordable rented housing and shared ownership housing on a part rent part buy basis. These properties are normally allocated to those people with most need.

Rents are usually lower than private rental but there are some rules on who can apply to join the housing register for housing association accommodation. If you do join the register, how quickly you get accommodation will depend on your personal circumstances.

If you are homeless

Babergh District Council must, by law give help and advice to certain groups of homeless people.

Am I homeless? You can become homeless if:

1. You have no where to stay at night
2. You have no legal right to stay where you are living
3. You have a home but are in fear of violence at that address
4. You can't live in the same home as the people with whom you would normally live

If you think you will become homeless it is important to seek advice from the Homelessness Team at Babergh District Council

It is important you provide us with the information we need to complete all enquiries and you must ensure that information given to us is accurate and that you inform us straight away of any changes to your circumstances.

Normally you will be given an appointment to discuss your situation with a housing officer, however in an emergency it may be possible to be seen straight away.

The council only has to find accommodation for certain groups who are in priority need. Not everyone is eligible for help.

Am I eligible? Some things could make you ineligible for help. We must, by law make sure applicants meet our criteria and therefore must ask you questions in relation to your immigration status.

Do I have priority need? Priority need categories are:

1. People with children
2. Pregnant women
3. People made homeless through fire, flood or emergency

4. People who are vulnerable though age, physical or mental disabilities, learning disabilities, fleeing violence, leaving care or prison (dependant on circumstances)

If you are NOT in priority need the council does not have to secure housing if you become homeless, however advice and assistance will be offered to you.

Am I intentionally homeless? The council will consider if you have intentionally made yourself homeless – usually through failure to do some thing which results in you losing your home. This can include causing a nuisance to neighbours, committing criminal acts, failing to pay rent or voluntarily leaving your property.

If you are priority need but are considered intentionally homeless the council may only have a duty to temporarily accommodate you for a reasonable time (usually 28 days).

For the council to secure accommodation for you, you must be eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and have a priority need

Do you have a local connection? You must have a local connection with Babergh for this council to secure you accommodation.

The local connection can be through one of the following:

1. You are normally or have in the past been a resident of the area or
2. Have a permanent job in the area or
3. Have close family living in the area or
4. Have special circumstances which make it necessary for you to live in the district.

What type of accommodation can I expect? This will depend on your needs and status and will be decided once you have met all criteria. Further information on the type of accommodation can be discussed by calling the Homelessness Team at Babergh District Council

What if I am unhappy about the decision? If you disagree with the decision reached by the council in relation to the accommodation on offer you can apply in writing for a review, within 21 days of the date notified. Further information on the review process is available upon request

Health and safety

Landlords must make sure their tenants are safe in their home, these include the following provisions:

1. Gas Safety – homes must have a valid gas safety certificate and a copy should be given to you. Appliances should be checked annually.
2. Electrical Safety – equipment must be safe although there is no requirement to produce certificates as there is with gas.
3. Fire Safety – all furniture provided with the property should be fire resistant and show a label saying this. If your property does not have a smoke detector it is a good idea that one is bought.
4. If you share a house with persons who are not part of your household then the owner must ensure that it meets minimum standards for the provision of amenities and had a means of escape in case of fire.
5. Repairs – your landlord is usually responsible for major repairs to the property however you will be responsible for maintaining the decoration and furniture inside.
6. Carbon Monoxide – carbon monoxide poisoning can kill and can be due to a faulty gas appliance. It is vital a detector is purchased and displayed within the property.

A gas leak emergency: If you smell gas at home:

- Find the main gas tap and turn it off
- Phone the gas emergency service on 0800 111 999
- Don't light any flames and put out cigarettes
- Don't switch electrical appliances or lights off or on
- Open windows and doors
- Check if the gas has been left unlit or if a pilot light has gone out

What to do about an electricity problem

- Turn off the main electricity switch
- Call the power failure hotline 0800 783 8838
- Contact your landlord or housing association

We have a number of police stations throughout Suffolk as well as public enquiry offices and mobile units that can be accessed by any one.

Driving offences: If you wish to drive a vehicle on a road you must have the following documents:

1. A full driving licence either UK or from your home country. A driving licence from your home country may not be valid after 12 months from the time of your arrival and you should check your licence for restrictions. Full details are available on the DVLA website – www.dvla.gov.uk
2. Insurance for your vehicle which specifies that you are the driver.
3. A vehicle test certificate (MOT) for vehicles over three years old.
4. A vehicle excise licence (road tax)

You must ensure you can produce these documents at the request of the police at any time.

1. You do not drive a vehicle if you have been drinking alcohol or using drugs.
2. All occupants of the vehicle wear seat belts or in the case of smaller children are restrained in a car seat.
3. All lights on your vehicle are in working order.

Failure to comply may result in you being taken to court, and fined or imprisoned.

Sexual offences: Any sexual touching or intercourse that takes place without the consent of the other person is against the law.

It is also against the law to have sexual intercourse with any person under the age of sixteen even with their consent.

The police take these crimes very seriously and you may be arrested and taken to court, which may result in a fine or imprisonment.

Offensive weapons: It is against the law to carry any type of weapon including a knife. It is also illegal to carry anything you intend to use as a weapon such as a bat or piece of wood in a public place.

The police will take these crimes very seriously and you may be arrested and taken to court, which may result in a fine or imprisonment.

Criminal offences: If you take part in any criminal activity, harassment or intimidation you will be dealt with through the legal system. If you are arrested your rights will be explained to you and you will be able to get legal advice in your own language.

Personal safety: The police want to ensure you are safe and secure at all times and there are things you can do to look after yourself.

1. Use well lit, busy roads and avoid shortcuts you are not familiar with.
2. If you think you are being followed or feel threatened go to a shop or any where lots of people are and ask someone to call the police.
